Now that's what I call entertainment

Blackpool has rollercoaster's, arguably the wettest roller coaster, bigger clubs, even the biggest mirror ball in the world plus world-class shows, great restaurants, the brightest nightlife, an active sports scene and breathtakingly beautiful scenery right on Blackpool's doorstep.

Blackpool's world famous illuminations consisting of a series of light displays and collages along the entire length of the sea front, seven miles (11 km) in total, and attract many visitors from late August to early November; a time when most British seaside resorts' seasons have already ended.

2010's Illumination festival dates are 3 Sep 2009 - 7 Nov 2009.

Each season a famous person "flicks the switch" to turn the lights on in an opening night switch on ceremony. The BBC Top Gear team, minus James May, were on hand to activate the lights for 2008 & TV comedian Alan Carr for 2009. Who will it be this year?

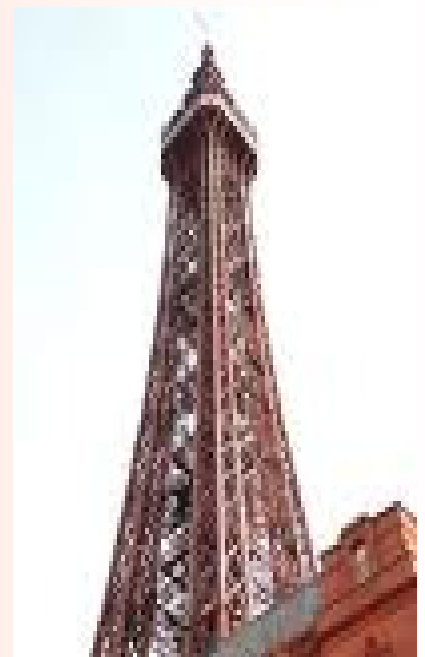

Blackpool has top shows and cabarets at many venues throughout the town catering for all ages. The Winter Gardens and Grand Theatre plays host to top celebrity names throughout the year.

The three piers are alive with arcades, show bars and the best family entertainment.

The promenade boasts the famous golden mile with the wax works, the sea life centre and crazy golf centres, both inside and out side.

Further south you have the Pleasure Beach that will thrill and excite with all the fun of the fair.

The town has non stop night life, with the best bars and clubs the UK can offer.
